The News.

The remainder of the Quarantine buildings on Staten Island, were burned by the mob on Thursday night. The buildings were declared a nuisance at a public meeting, and detrimental to the health of the people, and it was resolved to destroy them by fire, as the most effectual method of abolishing the nuisance. This resolution was carried into immediate effect, and the authorities refused to interfere with the mob.—Three of the inmates of the hospital died from heat and exposure.

The corner stone of the People's College, at Havana, N. Y., was laid with appropriate ceremonies, on Thursday, in the presence of eight or ten thousand people.

From Washington we have the intelligence of another decapitation in Illinois. C. A. PINE, editor of the Chicago Herald, has been appointed Marshal for the Northern District, in place of late incumbent, a Douglas man. The Administration is determined to keep up the war upon all the rebels who continue to follow the lead of the little Giant.

We have advices from Havana to the 30th ult. The health of the island continued very bad.—Sugars were quite dull.

A fire occurred at New York yesterday, destroying property valued at $60,000.

Yellow fever is still raging at New Orleans.

The N. Y. breadstuffs market was unchanged yesterday. Our own market was less active and wheat rather lower.

Death of Old "Oshkosh."

We are indebted to Dr. HEUBSCHMANN, late Superintendent of Indian Affairs in the North-Western States, for a copy of the following letter, received by him yesterday:

KESHENA, Shawano Co., Aug. 30, 1858.

DEAR SIR:—Supposing that you still take an interest in the affairs of your old friends, the Menomonee Indians, I write to say that their head Chief, Old Oshkosh, died yesterday, after an illness of seven days. The Indians greatly regret his loss. Yours, &c.

Old Oshkosh, at the time of his death, must have been upwards of seventy years old. His father was the Head Chief of the Menomonees, but dying young, the succession was disputed. In 1827, however, at the Treaty of Butte Des Morts, Gen. CASS, the U. S. Commissioner, after hearing the claims of the different contestants, formally recognized Oshkosh, as the Head Chief, and his authority, as such, was thenceforth undisputed.

Oshkosh was a native of Wisconsin, and a fine specimen of his race. Some three years ago, in company with several of his band, he paid a visit to the editor of the Sentinel, and delivered a characteristic speech in our sanctum, which we published at the time. He was one of the "landmarks" of Northern Wisconsin; a good friend to the Whites, and an honored chief to the Menomonees.

ANOTHER BLUNDER OF "THE DAILY BOOBY."—The "Daily Booby," alias the Wisconsin, of last evening, gives the Sentinel credit for bringing forward Mr. JAMES S. BROWN, as the Democratic candidate for Congress. It is not to be expected that the "Family Newspaper" should keep posted about politics; yet no one, we think, but "the Daily Booby," could have made so great a blunder. The Sentinel disclaims the merit of having suggested so respectable and competent a man as Mr. BROWN, as a Democratic candidate for Congress. Nor did we suppose that "fair play" could win against the tricks and tactics of "the Forty." The result, though seemingly incomprehensible to "the Daily Booby," is very much what everybody else expected.

THE COMMON SENTIMENT.—The Racine Daily News, a neutral paper, referring to the proceedings of the Democratic Congressional Convention at Racine, says:

> The nomination of Mr. Brown will doubtless satisfy a large part of the Democracy, while there is no room for doubt but that a small number may be disaffected. We think he cannot poll as many votes by some hundreds as some of the other names which were presented. We think Mr. Potter can be counted in.

Such is the general impression in political circles. Nevertheless we would not have the friends of Mr. POTTER omit any honorable effort to swell his majority and ensure his success.

SO IT SEEMS.—That Randallism ruled the Republican Prairie du Chien Convention is as clear as day. Randall appointed Mr. Noggle Judge, to get that gentleman out of the way of Washburne. Some of Randall's organs have been abusing the Hon. Luther Hanchett most unmercifully, to get him out of the way of Washburne, and be it remembered that the convention that nominated Washburne, also endorsed the administration of Randall.—Madison Patriot.

Per contra, the Wisconsin, an equally reliable organ, insists that "the Randallites" were entirely overthrown in the Prairie du Chien Convention. The Wisconsin and Patriot are excellent authorities to contradict each other. Of course, nobody heeds either story.

WATERTOWN DELEGATES.—We learn that M. B. WILLIAMS and WM. T. BUTLER, Esq., were appointed delegates to the Democratic Congressional Convention, in the Third District. They were elected over Gen. CHAPPELL, and Post Master Gen. POTTER, by decisive majorities. The evening after the Convention, it is said, the Forty did not sing

"Here's a health to Gen. CHAPPELL, &c."

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.—The Free Democrat, in its usually neighborly spirit, remarks of the Sentinel, that "it considers success of the first importance, and such little matters as violations of of principle, and outrages on common honesty, things to be nudged only with a gentle word and quietly passed by and smoothed over." That may be the Free Democrat's rule of action, but certainly is not the Sentinel's.

THE UNCOUNTED VOTE IN KANSAS.—The Lawrence Republican gives a list of returns from fourteen polls not included in the Commissioners' statement, embracing an aggregate vote of 1,243—171 for, and 1,072 against the English proposition. Thus amended, the total vote would stand 1,989 for to 12,372 against it—making the Free State majority 10,413. The supposition of the Republican is that these returns either did not reach the Commissioners, or were rejected on account of informality; yet they make no mention of any one of the localities named.

Ozaukee County Republicans.

PORT WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The Republicans of Ozaukee county wish to send word to their brethren abroad, that they will do all they can at the coming election. What there are can always be counted on, for they are such, without fear, favor, reward, or hope thereof, but only for the public good.

They held a convention, Thursday evening, at Port Washington, and appointed O. A. [illegible], LEWIS TEAD, JULIUS TOMLINSON and GEORGE W. FOSTER, Delegates to attend the convention at Oshkosh. In adherence to a cause, through good report, and evil report, particularly the latter, wins success, the Republicans of Ozaukee ought some day to succeed. Yours truly,

A LOOKER-ON.

MAINE CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS.—The nominations of the Republicans for Congress in Maine are now complete, as follows: First District, Daniel E. Somes; Second, John J. Perry; Third, E. B. French; Fourth, Freeman H. Morse; Fifth, Israel Washburne, Jr.; Sixth, Stephen C. Foster. Messrs. Morse, Washburne and Foster are members of the present Congress. The election will be held on the 13th inst.

THE GREAT CHESS CONTEST.—The chess contest between PAUL MORPHY and HERR LOWENTHAL, which is now progressing in London, is exciting considerable interest on both sides of the Atlantic. Up to the last accounts the score stood: MORPHY, 7; LOWENTHAL, 2; drawn, 1. The purse is for $1,000, which the winner of the first nine games will receive. The American has, therefore, but two games to win. The ninth game was one of the most exciting chess contests on record. It continued over three sittings, and lasted, in all, nineteen hours and a half.

THE DISAPPEARANCE OF MRS. BRANNAN.—The New York papers have frequently noticed the mysterious disappearance in that city, on the 20th ultimo, of Mrs. Eliza Brannan, wife of an army officer, whose family reside in Brooklyn.—The Police Gazette says detectives are endeavoring to discover her, and that—

> One detective traced a woman who answers her description in every particular to West Point. He went there and had an interview with her, and was more convinced than ever that she was Mrs. Brannan, but instead of telegraphing for some one who knew her, while he, in the meantime, kept an eye on all her movements, he came to the city for proof of identity, but when he returned she was gone. We believe this detective saw Mrs. Brannan, but he bungled his work, and thus failed to satisfy her friends, or receive the reward. We are under the impression that she is still alive.

Detroit and Milwaukee Railway Through to Lake Michigan:—Connection Made!

Yesterday afternoon, about three o'clock some fifty of our citizens assembled on the line of the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway, near the West end of the bridge, to witness the joining of the iron track, which completes the connection of the Railroad with the steam ferry across Lake Michigan.

Upon arriving at the spot, there was an open gap of about twenty rods in length to be closed up; and while awaiting that interesting event, the company were politely invited by W. P. Innes, Esq., to take a short excursion on the construction train. The invitation was cheerfully accepted, and we enjoyed a highly pleasurable ride to Berlin (a distance of nine or ten miles) and back. This portion of the road passes thro' a beautiful country, and the scenery on either side presents an exceedingly interesting variety. The bridges, culverts and the road bed, are all well constructed; and the track, when ballasted, will be a very fine one.

Immediately after the return of the excursionists, the last length of the rail, which completed the connection, was laid in the presence of about a hundred spectators, when three cheers and one more were heartily and roundly given for Mr. Higham, the Chief Engineer of the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway, and a general impromptu rejoicing was had.

Refreshments (wet and dry) were then freely partaken of by the assembly which crowded several of the platform cars; after which, with an exultant snort and prolonged whistle, the iron horse again started with the train, crossed the bridge, and brought up "all right" at the passenger depot, having made the journey from Mill Point, the present western terminus of the road, through to this city—a distance of thirty-five miles—in sixty days! As the entire track has been laid during that time, we think it must be conceded that this is remarkably good speed, and highly creditable to the managers and employees of the road.

The first passenger train will run through, from Detroit to Mill Point to-day, and will run regularly through on and after Monday next.

Two staunch steamers will immediately take the place of the Forester, on the Lake, when the great new thoroughfare will be fairly open for the accommodation of the traveling public.—Grand Rapids Eagle, Sept. 1.

HON. JOHN F. POTTER NOMINATED FOR CONGRESS.—The Republican Congressional Convention, which met at Racine on Tuesday last, nominated by acclamation and with entire unanimity, for re-election to Congress from the First Congressional District of Wisconsin, the Hon. John F. Potter. This nomination was eminently fit to be made, and will meet with a most cordial response by every Republican in this Congressional District. Mr. Potter has been a resident of Wisconsin for more than twenty years, has always sustained the reputation of a man of integrity, energy and talent. His unswerving course heretofore in Congress, and the faithful representation of the will of his constituents, have gained for him the unqualified approbation of the Republicans of this Congressional District. The name of Judge Potter will inspire confidence in the Republican ranks, and will serve to unite the friends of right, in a determined purpose of his triumphant election.

The Convention at Racine on Tuesday, although a delegated one, was largely attended; the Court House being filled to overflowing.—The people came to the Convention in large numbers, expecting to see Judge Potter re-nominated, and their expectations were pleasingly realized by its being done without a dissenting voice, and with enthusiastic feelings.—Kenosha Telegraph.

TERRIBLE TORNADO IN ULSTER COUNTY, N. Y.—TWO LADIES KILLED.—A very destructive tornado visited a few towns in Ulster County, last Wednesday, tearing up and destroying everything in its course, blowing down trees, fences and even dwellings, and in one of these dwellings were a number of persons, who were crushed by the falling building, killing three and seriously wounding three others. It appears that it made its first appearance at Dewittville, continuing westward in the direction of Smithville, five miles distant. At Dewittville the tornado left a terrible mark as it passed on its destructive course. The houses of Mr. J. Smith and Mr. Hoyt were blown down. There was no one in the former, Mrs. Hoyt and her three children being on a visit at the house of Mrs. Smith.—Mrs. Hoyt was instantly killed and Mrs. Smith so badly injured that she died in a few hours—A lady named Mrs. Hornbeck, who was also in the house, was so seriously injured that her life is despaired of. The three children of Mrs. Hoyt were also badly injured. Mr. Smith was in the city at the time of the accident. The tornado passed on its course towards Smithville, but whether any more lives were lost or property destroyed we do not learn.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE CELEBRATION—A GLORIOUS DAY.—The heavens smile auspiciously upon the celebration to day—the sky is unclouded, the sun shines brilliantly, and the atmosphere is cool and delightful. The whole population of the city is aroused by the excitement of the occasion, crowds of people have been pouring in from the country, during the past day or two, and the streets along the whole route of the procession from the Battery to the Crystal Palace will be thronged by the greatest multitude ever assembled at any place on this continent.—N. Y. Commercial, Sept. 1.

WINTER WHEAT.—Our farmers are all busy preparing the ground and sowing wheat. There will be a much larger breadth of wheat sown in this part of the State this fall than ever before. Our farmers are seeing the advantages of raising a crop that will command a good price and the cash at all times. The past two years have demonstrated that it is as sure a crop as spring wheat and commands, at all times, at least one-third higher price.—Baraboo Republic.

Beware of the Swindlers.

We have frequently cautioned our readers against being imposed upon by having anything to do with the bogus certificates of deposits and drafts, issued by the Janesville City Bank, but find it necessary to renew our caution. Chief of Police BECK tells us that there is a number of travelling thieves going through the State, at the present time, attempting to palm off the worthless shinplasters in exchange for horses.—We advise our farmers to be on the look out for the scamps. The Janesville Gazette learns that some half a dozen farmers of that vicinity were, on Monday last, swindled out of as many horses, by a man answering to the name of E. C. HOWE. HOWE claimed to be engaged in some of the public works near Milwaukee, that he was buying large numbers of horses, and, for greater convenience, used certificates of deposit instead of currency, at the same time producing several certificates and drafts of the Janesville City Bank, in amounts varying from three to five hundred dollars. His victims not being aware of the character of this bank, and receiving every assurance of the genuineness of the securities, parted with their property and received the certificates of deposit and drafts at their face.

Having come to Janesville on Thursday morning they quickly ascertained the value of the paper for which they had sold their property, and at once resolved to start in pursuit of the thief. They overtook HOWE in this city, and he at once abandoned his booty to his pursuers and took to flight, leaving the certificates and drafts in the possession of his dupes. The horses were all recovered, but in an exhausted and jaded condition.

The Gazette has been shown one of the certificates of deposites and one of the drafts disposed of on this occasion. The certificate is made to E. C. HOWE, for $400, payable in six months, dated May 15th, 1858, and numbered 1006. Another certificate, our informant states, is for $500, made to the same person, dated June 15th, 1858, and numbered 1005; the number, it will be noticed, is less than the $400 certificate, though the date is a month later. The draft is on the Park Bank, New York, for $800, payable to the order of E. C. HOWE, eight months after date, and dated May 20th, 1858. Across the draft is written "acceptance waived," apparently in the same ink and with the same pen as the number of the draft.

There is a boldness in operations of this character so near the locality of the bank and where its character ought to be fully known, that shows the necessity of a renewed caution against receiving the certificates and drafts purporting to be issued by the bank.

WELCOME VISITORS.—Several of the officers and managers of the Great Western and Detroit and Milwaukee Rail Roads, and, others arrived here yesterday morning, by the way of the Lake Ferry, and on the first train which passed through from the Detroit River to the shore of Lake Michigan. Quite a number of ladies are among the excursionists, many of whom are Canadians, and they all put up at the Newhall House. They expressed themselves much pleased with the appearance of Milwaukee, and not a little surprised to find such hotel accommodations in a Western City as the Newhall House affords. By the completion of this route, in future we may hope to be intimately connected and on the best of terms with our Michigan and Canadian neighbors.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—All the Public Schools in our city, with the exception of the new School in the Second Ward, and the Primary in the Seventh Ward, will be opened for the Fall term at 9 o'clock next Monday morning. Scholars desirous of attending during the term, will do well to present themselves at the schools on the opening day. The Second Ward School will, it is hoped, be ready for use by the 15th or 20th of this month. The opening of the Seventh Ward Primary depends upon the progress made by the builders of No. 1 Engine House.

BODY FOUND.—The body of a man was found on the Lake Shore, 15 miles South of this city, on Thursday. It was at first supposed that it might be that of Mr. JENNINGS, or Mr. SULLIVAN who were drowned on Friday of last week. It proved, however, on inquiry, to be the body of an unknown man, about 25 years of age, clad in a sailor shirt, dark trowsers, india rubber coat and stage boots. The body, apparently, had been some time in the water, and was buried on the beach.

TOO BAD!—The Wisconsin of last evening copies from the Prairie du Chien Courier, a Democratic organ, the following hard story about our late City Attorney. There is a trifling error in the narrative, however, which, in justice to Major F——, ought to be corrected. It was when he was running for Circuit Judge, that this incident occurred, and it was "the ninth glass" before breakfast:

> When running for City Attorney, he was in a lager beer saloon one day, taking a glass. A political opponent had just gone out, after also taking a glass. When his opponent was out of hearing, Major F. erected his elongated form, and glancing over the hall, (to see that no Americans were present) he addressed the vender of lager, with—
>
> "Hans, [illegible], Sister, do you know why the [illegible] lager beer?" Vender of lager—"[illegible] verstay." Col.—"Well, I'll tell you. He drinks beer because he wants to be popular with the Germans; but I drink it because I love it!—Yes, sir, this is my ninth glass this morning!"
>
> Then, assuming a tragic attitude, the Major extends his attenuated fore finger towards the pen that hung suspended above the bar, with which Billy Barstow is said to have vetoed the Liquor Bill, and continues:
>
> "Yes, Gentlemen, and when the pen that signed the Declaration of Independence is lost and forgotten—that pen—that Veto Pen will be loved and revered! YES SIR, AND OUGHT'ER!!"

POLICE COURT YESTERDAY.—Susan [illegible], disorderly, was dismissed by order of the City Attorney.

J. C. Jeger, drunk and disorderly, fined $5; sent up for ten days in default of payment.

J. Gasser, disorderly, found not guilty and discharged.

Felix McSorley, drunk and disorderly, fined $3.

Charles Kirby, disorderly, fined $10 and costs.

Hannah Dolan, drunk, fined $5,00 and in default of payment sent to jail for ten days.

Mary Liebold, disorderly conduct, fined $5,00 and costs.

Emil and Mary Stenzel, disorderly, fined $5,00 each and costs.

Lewis Stern, disorderly, fined $3,00 and costs.

Nathan Becker, disorderly, fined $5,00.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—A dare-devil youth went out on the Lake yesterday forenoon, in a small boat, in which he took four young girls. They went out of sight on the bay, and a heavy gale springing up towards noon, it was feared for sometime that they had all been lost. Their friends were in great consternation for a while, and four large sail boats well manned were sent out in the gale in search of them. They succeeded in picking up the adventurers all safe and sound, but terribly frightened, some distance out on the bay. There was great rejoicing when the supposed lost ones returned. We did not learn the names of the parties, but we believe they all resided in the Third Ward.

THE STEAMER TRAVELLER.—In speaking of the preparations for the fall travel, yesterday, we stated that the steamer Traveller would commence running, Monday, between this city and Chicago, leaving here every morning at nine o'clock, instead of every evening at that hour.—The Traveller will therefore leave on and after Monday, every evening at nine o'clock, (Sundays excepted) connecting with the early morning trains East, of the Central, Southern, and other roads. The Traveller is a staunch and comfortable boat, and while under the management of Captain Fish and his gentlemanly assistants, we can assure the travelling public that they will be well used on this boat.

RACINE COLLEGE.—We are happy to learn that this Institution is still progressing, notwithstanding the severity of the times, under the assiduous care of its first President, the Rev. Dr. PARK. The Fall term will open, Providence permitting, on Wednesday, the 15th inst., with an increase of the Faculty, as expected, by the accession of the Rev. HUGH M. THOMPSON, as Professor of the Greek and Latin languages.—Parents wishing to secure a good education for their sons, either for business pursuits, or for the learned professions, will do well to send them to Racine College.

THE DETROIT AND MILWAUKEE RAILWAY FINISHED.—Our readers are already aware of the completion of this important road through to Mill Point on Lake Michigan. It was announced that the work of track-laying would be finished on Saturday last, but in point of fact the last rail was not laid till 5 p. m., on Monday of this week, when the final spike was driven, and the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway—a work of strange vicissitudes through laborious years of care and toil—stood complete at last. Yesterday the first through train passed over the road, and to-day the Directors go over the line on a tour of inspection.—Detroit Tribune, Sept. 2.

THE FALSTAFF GUARDS—SWORD PRESENTATION AT THE STATE FAIR.—Fat and jolly go together; therefore, to see what the State can turn out, in the way of solid men, and to have a little pleasant fun for "the million," the editor of the Ohio Cultivator will present a Broad Sword to the heaviest man at the State Fair, who will muster with the Falstaff Guards. None admitted to the Company, weighing less than two hundred pounds.

Every man to be equipped with fan and handkerchief, and proved upon the scales.

Parade to take place on Thursday. Competition open to the world.—Ohio Cultivator.

Milwaukee could furnish two pretty formidable competitors for this promised broad sword.

JUNEAU GUARD.—This promising young company make their first appearance, in full uniform, on the 10th inst., and, in honor of the occasion, gives a grand Civic and Military Soiree, at Armory Hall, in the evening. The Juneau Guard will make a sensation when they come out, and their festival will be a delightful one.

A SAM PATCH LEAP.—We understand that a span of horses and lumber wagon, in the employ of J. J. ORTON, Esq., at Humboldt, backed off the bridge over the dam and went down twenty-six feet in ten feet of water, and were so little injured by the fall that fifty cents would repair all the damages.

EVERY MORNING.—Hereafter, the steamer Forester, Capt. ROBERTSON, is to leave here every morning, (except Sundays,) at 7½ o'clock, for Two Rivers and intermediate ports. Apply to JOHNSON & OLMSTED, foot of Main St., for freight or passage.

BOARD OF SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS.—A special meeting of the Board of School Commissioners will be held at their room this evening, at 7 o'clock. As business of importance is to be brought before the meeting, a full and punctual attendance is desired.

MILWAUKEE BOAT CLUB.—The regular monthly meeting of this Club, appointed for this evening, has been postponed, as a mark of sympathy in the loss sustained by the Wenona and Galatea Clubs, by the distressing accident of Friday week.

NEW BLOCK ON MILWAUKEE STREET.—Mr. SILKMAN has commenced the erection of a fine block of brick buildings on the corner of Milwaukee and Johnson streets. There are to be three buildings, three stories in height, for residences, and they will be completed this season.

RENTS.—J. S. FILLMORE has for rent, a good brick house, on Jefferson street, near Mason street, to rent for from one to three years, very cheap. Also, a house on Van Buren street near Mason street; rent $12,50 per month. Also, a house on Racine near Pleasant street; rent $5 per month.

FESTIVAL OF THE CORNET BAND.—Don't forget the Promenade Concert of MERRILL'S American Cornet Band, at Albany Hall, on Monday evening next. Let us encourage our own.

For the Sentinel.

Sabbath School Pic-Nic.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 3.

The annual pic-nic of the Sabbath School connected with the Spring St. Congregational Church, came off Thursday, in unusually fine style. The children, with a large number of the congregation and invited guests, assembled at the Church, about 10 o'clock, and proceeded, in omnibuses, with banners, emblems and various beautiful insignia, to the grove opposite Mr. GIFFORD's place. On arriving there we found that ample preparations had been made for spending the day in genuine rural style. A [illegible] box-swing, capable of holding half a dozen persons at a time, was the chief attraction for the children, and was in constant motion till a cargo of elderly boys got tipped out, happily without any bones being broken, but to the no small consternation of the by-standers. Numerous shady seats had been erected, and everything done that could add to the comfort and enjoyment of the company.

About 1 o'clock, the table was spread by the ladies. It presented an exceedingly beautiful appearance. At one end was a silk banner, bearing the motto, "God is Love," at the other a large cross, tastefully constructed of flowers and evergreens, leaves, &c., festoons of oak leaves hanging gracefully across it, from the surrounding trees. The viands were excellent, and reflected more than ordinary credit upon the matrons who had the care of this department.

After the inner wants of all had been supplied, the children sang some of their school hymns, and as their clear, sweet voices rose upon the still air, every heart was thrilled with perfect happiness, that swelled their innocent bosoms.

E. D. HOLTON, Esq., then addressed them in his usual happy style, and was followed by the Rev. Mr. TILTON, of the Summerfield M. E. Church, in a short, pithy speech, which interested the little ones amazingly.

The exercises being over, old and young again dispersed to play, which continued in real old fashioned style, till the sinking sun warned them that the day's pleasure must close.

The day was delightful, and everything passed off to the satisfaction of all concerned.—The occasion will long be remembered by the children, and was not without its use in stirring up pleasant memories in the hearts of the old.

PERSONAL.—Amongst the arrivals at the Newhall House yesterday, we notice the name of CHARLES J. BRYDGES, President of the Detroit & Milwaukee Rail Road, and Superintendent of the Great Western Road. Mr. B. was one of the moving spirits in the great enterprise, and our city is much indebted to his energies for the speedy completion of the Road.

FOR BUFFALO.—The propeller Fountain City, leaves this morning for Buffalo, at 9 o'clock.—For passage apply to GRIFFIN & BRADLEY, foot of East Water street.

ELECTRIC OIL—ELECTRIC OIL.—Many respectable dealers in various parts of the country, have been duly authorized to sell the genuine "Electric Oil," with written signatures of De Grath & Co., of Philadelphia, and such dealers are making more on sales than the Proprietors are, because it is an expensive remedy to make. The price, however, is invariable to the trade.

P. S.—Prof. De Grath & Co., of Philadelphia, have just received a letter from a nephew in the country, detailing his wonderful cures by a single bottle, which they had sent him. He kindly permitted its publication. Look out for fraud. Only office, No. 39 South Eighth street, near Chestnut street, Philadelphia, directly in the centre of the city.

☞ Examine the Labels and the Bottles. See the written signature, Prof. De Grath & Co., and the name blown in the bottle, "Prof. De Grath." All others to imitate forgery.

☞ For sale by Bosworth & Sons, and J. H. Tesch, Milwaukee; Fahnestock & Davis and Reed & Co., Chicago; and by Druggists and Merchants generally throughout the country. aug31dawlw

New York Matters.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.

The loss by the fire in the Bowery to-day is estimated at $60,000; of which Mr. Hine loses $25,000, and the Patterson Bros. $26,000—Hine is fully insured, the Patterson Bros. nearly so. Several buildings, in the vicinity, were badly injured.

Stephen H. Branch was admitted to bail to-day, to await the issue of his application for a new trial.

The Commissioners of Emigration and the Board of Health, held a meeting to-day to consider the affairs at Staten Island. The patients of the Marine Hospital, whose sickness is not contagious, are to be removed to Ward's Island; the rest are to remain in a part of the building which is still standing. Twelve fire companies and a sufficient police force armed with rifles, are to be sent down to the Quarantine. It is rumored that a military force will be sent down to-night. The sufferings among the sick which were left exposed upon the ground, is said to have been intense. A man named Molk, Assistant Engineer of the steamer Philadelphia, fell dead just after he was brought out of the Hospital by the mob.

QUARANTINE, N. Y., Sept. 3.

The steamboat Dr. Kane has just arrived from the city with 100 Police and a six pounder. They have also tents for the sick, of whom there are 50 who have been exposed to the wind and rain during the day. They are now under a drenching rain.

Mr. Molk, the second engineer of the steamer Philadelphia, died of yellow fever. He died this morning.

Drs. Bissel and Waller are devoted to the sick, tending and administering to their wants constantly, they themselves being nearly exhausted from want of sleep, excitement and exposure.—Three sick men, from the ship Liberty, from New Orleans, are lying on the Pier, there being no shelter for them. During the day large numbers have visited the ruins from the city.—The Harbor Police, from the city, numbering 22 men, went down to the Island, this evening, with their boats, there being a rumor that the incendiaries of the previous night intend a demonstration on the shipping at anchor.

The inhabitants of the infected district, that is the neighborhood where Kearmer, the German, died, were notified to remove their effects to-day, as their dwellings would be fired to-night. With the present high wind, from the S. S. E., the village will be jeopardized if that threat is executed. Dr. Thompson is here with his assistants and doing all in their power to help and provide for the sick, and to re-organize the establishment. It is raining hard, and there is no shelter within the walls.

Later from Havana.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.

The Steamship Cahawba arrived at quarantine, this P. M., from New Orleans, via Havana, 30th. She brings over $300,000 in specie, mostly from the former place. The general impression at Havana was that the Brig Nancy would be liberated. The steam frigate Venzuela, from New York, had arrived at Havana, 29th. The health of Havana was very bad.

Sugars were quite dull; the demands of holders, who were chiefly speculators, being above the views of the buyers. Several large contracts of new crops are reported at extreme rates.—The Azscanian, a new company, is understood to have contracted for all the sugars they can produce at twenty reals per arrobe for white,—Stock at Havana and Mantanzas 160,000 boxes. Molasses active at last rates. Freights very dull

Quarantine Buildings Burned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.

The remainder of the quarantine buildings at Staten Island were burned last night, the conflagration commencing soon after the adjournment of a meeting of the citizens of Richmond Co. Among the buildings burned were the six cottages occupied by the boatmen of the station, the large mansion occupied by Dr. Waller, Deputy Health Office, and the fine brick dwelling of Dr. Bissell.

The furniture had been removed from all the buildings except the last named. Dr. Bevho was warned of the intended burning, but refused to remove an article.

It is stated that the mob was led by Tompkins, chief engineer of the Staten Island fire department, who appeared in his fireman's uniform.

A detachment of U. S. Marines were present, but only to guard government property. No attempt was made by any one to stop the flames.

Soon after midnight the Farwell Hospital was set fire to and entirely consumed. It contained 75 patients, who were previously removed and placed on the grass plat between the hospital and the resident physician's house, the latter being on fire, where they remained through the night, covered with showers of sparks from the burning buildings. The fire department was present, but did nothing to stop the conflagration. The 7th regiment of our city have been notified to hold themselves in readiness for this emergency, but up to last advices had not been called out.

The Atlantic Cable festivities were closed last night by a grand banquet to Mr. Field, at the Metropolitan Hotel, and a magnificent display of fire works in the park.

Peoples' College, Havana, N. Y.

HAVANA, N. Y., Sept. 3.

Eight or ten thousand people assembled here yesterday to attend the laying of the corner stone of the Peoples' College. The procession was a large one. Mark Hopkins, President of Williams' College, delivered the principal address. The corner stone was laid with appropriate ceremonies by Jno. L. Lewis, Grand-Master of the Masonic fraternity of this State.

EYE AND EAR INFIRMARY!
MEIGS CASE, M. D.,
OPERATOR UPON THE EYE & EAR.

LECTURES ON THE EYE.

STRABISMUS, or Cross Eye, may be defined to be a want of harmony between the two eyes, which exists to such an extent that one of them does not move with the other, but is turned away involuntarily to the other side.

It is an affection so apparent as scarcely to require explanation, and is a most unpleasant defect, particularly to young people, and never fails to impair the sight more or less.

It consists essentially of a contraction of one of the six muscles which fix the ball as represented in the cut.

The operation is usually performed by me, in a few seconds, and is always entirely successful, both in relieving the deformity and improving the vision to a great degree.

Operations for Cataract, artificial pupil, &c., scientifically and successfully performed.

French artificial eyes inserted without operation or pain, having the appearance and all the motions of the natural eye.

All the recent discoveries and improvements in the diagnosis and treatment of ocular and aural diseases, will be resorted to for the restoration and preservation of the most valuable of the senses, sight and hearing.

Persons from a distance will be provided with boarding houses by making application at the office immediately on arriving in the City.

Operations, medicines and advice gratuitously given to persons who are really indigent, during the unoccupied moments of the operator.

A Card from Dr. James H. Jarrett,

OF THE NEW YORK LUNG INFIRMARY.—My connection for the past eight years with the above Institution, as Chief Physician, and a twelve years' course of steady devotion to the cure of Pulmonary Consumption and its kindred diseases, together with my unrivalled opportunities and advantage of pathological research—aided not a little by a perfect system of Medical Inhalation—has enabled me to arrive at a decisive, direct, and successful course of treatment for the positive cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs, and Air-Passages. By inhalation, the vapor and curative properties of medicines are directly addressed to the diseased organs and the integument. I do not advise the use of Medical Inhalation of any kind, to the exclusion of general treatment; and although I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of those fearful and often fatal diseases, yet I deem it very necessary that each patient should have the benefit of both general and local treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases, and the high character of the Institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside, are too well known to need any eulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and professional friends, through whose philanthropic aid the above charity has been long and liberally supported, after due consideration, have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring benefits of my experience and treatment within reach of all, and not to confine myself, as heretofore, to those only who entered the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office. Hoping therefore that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction, both to my professional brethren and the public, I would respectfully announce in conclusion, that I can now be consulted personally or by letter, on all diseases as above, and that the medicines, the same as used in the Institution, prepared to suit each individual case Inhaling Vapors, Medical Inhalers, &c., &c., will be forwarded to any part of the United States or the Canadas. Terms—My terms for treatment by letter are as follows, viz: $12 per month for each patient, which will include medicine sufficient for one month's use; also, Inhaling Vapor, and an Inhaling Apparatus. Payment as follows: $6 to be paid to Express Agent on receipt of the box of Medicine, and the balance $6 at the expiration of the month, if the patient be cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment. Patients, by giving a full history of their case, and their symptoms in full, can be treated as well by letter as by personal examination. Patients availing themselves of Dr. Jarrett's treatment may rely upon immediate and permanent relief, as he seldom has to treat a case over thirty days. Letters for advice promptly answered. For further particulars address JAMES H. JARRETT, M. D.,
No. 620 Broadway, cor. Twelfth st., N. Y.

P. S.—Physicians and others visiting the city are respectfully invited to call at the Infirmary where many interesting cases can be witnessed, and where our improved apparatus for the inhalation of medicated vapor can be seen and inspected. sep3h145d6mo

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

FOR CONGRESS, FIRST DISTRICT,
JOHN F. POTTER.
SECOND DISTRICT,
CADWALLADER C. WASHBURNE.

Republican State Convention.

A REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION will be held at the Assembly Hall in the city of Madison, on Tuesday the 4th day of October next, at 2 o'clock P. M.

The objects of the Convention are to confer generally upon the interests and welfare of the party; and take all needful measures to insure its harmonious and vigorous action, and the perfection of its State and local organization, and also such other matters as may properly come before it.

It is recommended that each Assembly District send two delegates; and it is hoped that good and true Republicans from all parts of the State will attend and aid the Convention by their presence and counsel.

Taking Issue with the Constitution.

The News, alluding to the resolutions of the Republican Convention at Racine, in which the principles of the Philadelphia platform were heartily re-affirmed, says:

The inscription upon the third plank in the Philadelphia platform reads as follows:

"Resolved, That the Constitution confers upon Congress sovereign power over the Territories of the United States, for their government."

Which means that the people of a Territory have not a right to make the laws under which they are to live.

The Democracy will never subscribe to any such doctrine. They will stand by the principle of "Popular Sovereignty" to the last. We cheerfully accept this issue, tendered us by the Republican party of this district.

The News must take issue with the Constitution of the United States, as well as with the Republican Party, on this question. The Constitution not only confers upon Congress the power spoken of, but makes it the duty of Congress to exercise that power. All of the earlier and greater Presidents of the Republic, all the leading statesmen who helped to frame the Constitution, held to this view of its provisions.—Against these "giants" of the past, are opposed the "pigmies" of the present generation. The people of the United States are asked to forget the teachings of WASHINGTON, JEFFERSON, MADISON, HAMILTON, JAY and MARSHALL, and follow such lesser lights as PIERCE, BUCHANAN, ENGLISH, TOOMBS and TANEY. The people of Wisconsin are required to abjure their birthright, the ordinance of '87, and adopt in its stead the DRED SCOTT decision of '57.

National Democracy maintains that Congress can not prohibit Slavery in the Territories of the U. S., and the National Judiciary decrees that Slavery exists of right upon every foot of ground subject to U. S jurisdiction. This is the issue tendered to the Republicans of this and every Congressional District of our State, by the so-called Democratic Party. Can there be a question that the electors of Wisconsin, faithful to the traditions of the past, staunch to the cause of Freedom, true to the Principles of the Ordinance of '87 and of the Constitution of the United States, will again send to Washington Representatives, who do not believe that Slavery is National!

Not Pleased with the Allusion.

The News thinks it was in exceedingly bad taste for the Editor of the Sentinel to "assail Mr. KILBOURN and other gentlemen, who were associated with him as Directors of the La Crosse Company, at the time of lobbying for the land grant." The Sentinel has not "assailed" Mr. KILBOURN, and has no desire to do so. We simply called attention to the fact that Mr. KILBOURN, and his right hand men, JACKSON HADLEY and CHAS. E. JENKINS, were delegates to, and conspicuous actors, in the Racine Democratic Congressional Convention.

We reminded the public, in the same connection, that for a year past the Democratic press of this State had teemed with denunciations of the "Bribery and Corruption," practiced in the Legislature of 1856, and had denounced Republican State Officers and Legislators for accepting bribes from the La Crosse R. R. Company. We further recalled the fact, that in the Report of the Investigating Committee, of last winter, Messrs. KILBOURN, HADLEY and JENKINS figured as the prominent actors in the "Bribery and Corruption" so long and loudly complained of by the Democratic press; that Mr. KILBOURN was the chief "propitiator" and liberal dispenser of "pecuniary compliments;" that Mr. HADLEY, himself a member of the Legislature, was the recipient of $20,000; that Mr. JENKINS, the diligent scribe who prepared the "corruption bonds" for distribution, received $25,000 for his valuable aid; and that these three gentlemen, thus prominent in the transactions which the Democratic press have branded with all manner of epithets, were duly elected Delegates to the recent Democratic Congressional Convention at Racine, and took an active part in the proceedings.

And from all this we drew the natural conclusion that the outcry of the Democratic press against the Legislature of 1856 was a sham, and that the "Democracy" cordially approved and heartily endorsed the "Bribery and Corruption" then and there practised. In all this, there was no assault upon Mr. KILBOURN, or his associates, but a simple recital of facts, which nobody pretends to deny, and a statement of inferences which even the News does not dispute.

POTTER'S QUALIFICATIONS.—The Republicans endeavor to make a great deal of capital out of Potter's pugilistic feats, in the House of Representatives. They have too much sense to suppose that such accomplishments are required for the performance of Congressional duties. But Potter has done nothing else to recommend him to the people, and so they make the most they can of the scrimmage in which he was temporarily engaged.—News of yesterday.

The Republicans have never bragged particularly about Mr. POTTER's "pugilistic feats," but they and all other Northern men, who stand up for the rights of the North and the Freedom of Debate, give him due credit for his spirited and manly conduct in the "scrimmage" referred to. The prompt and effective interposition of MR. POTTER, the WASHBURNES and other Republican Members of Congress, on that remarkable occasion, administered a lesson to Mr. KEITT and his associate bullies, which was productive of the happiest result at the time, and will be of lasting benefit. The News is quite welcome to make all the "capital" it can out of that "scrimmage."

HOW BERIAH WAS NOMINATED.—It appears that sixty one ballots were taken before a nomination was effected in the Racine Democratic Convention and then outsiders do say some of the Milwaukee Delegates were trapped (or "strapped") into making one. Perhaps the frequent "recesses to drink" may have had the effect to obfuscate some of our delegates, so that they got confused and voted for the wrong BROWN.

SINGULAR MISTAKES.—The Albany Argus says that it lately misprinted yes for no, and the Memphis Avalanche, a Democratic fire eater, excuses itself for having misprinted decency for Democracy.

A Candidate to its Taste at last.

The News has finally got a candidate that suits it. In the course of a very eulogistic notice of BERIAH BROWN, its nominee for Congress, the News says:

His nomination we hail as the inauguration of a new era in the history of the Democracy of this State. We have at length, a positive man presented for our suffrages.

The compliment here implied to Senators DODGE and WALKER, and Messrs. LYNDE, MACY, HOBART, WELLS, ELMORE, HADLEY and other democratic notabilities, who have been successful, or unsuccessful candidates, for Representatives in Congress, will, no doubt, be duly appreciated by the friends of those gentlemen. The News has got a "positive man" at last, i. e., a man who is "positively" of their faction. We believe there is no doubt that Mr. BROWN does belong, and always did belong to that wing of party.

Buchanan vs. Douglas.

The Chicago Herald, one of Mr. BUCHANAN's organs, says:

We are bound, under any circumstances, to make this fight to the end. Stephen A. Douglas cannot be re-elected to the Senate. Saltpetre cannot save him. The people of Washington may rely confidently on this. Mr. Douglas will not be allowed to triumph over Mr. Buchanan.

Mr. BUCHANAN is without an "organ" in Wisconsin, unless the Pinery still adheres to his fortunes. All the rest of the Democratic press have joined the Douglas "faction." The Administration has no show in this State.

That "Recess to Drink."

A correspondent of the Racine Daily News thus effectually disposes of the complaint in the Milwaukee News, against the "blackguards" and "libellers" of the Racine Telegraph office, for reporting correctly the proceedings of the late Democratic Convention in that city:

'Contemptible.'

Mr. Editor:—I notice in the Milwaukee News of to-day, the following article:

CONTEMPTIBLE.—The telegraph made a contemptible fling at the Democratic Congressional Convention at Racine. In its report of the proceedings, it said:

"A recess was taken till 2 p. m., to drink."

If the telegraph company employ partizan blackguards to send through their reports, the sooner they will cease to send reports the better. We pay the company for their services, but cannot afford to do so, if the reports are to be doctored with Black Republican pot-house slang. The above specimen is an unendurable outrage, and we shall appeal to the head quarters of the company for the dismissal of the Racine libeller."

Permit me to suggest to the local of the News, that A. F. Pratt, of Waukesha, a delegate to the Convention, is the "Racine libeller" referred to by this article above quoted, and further, that Mr. Pratt expressly stated to the Convention that the reason why he could not act as teller was, because he had consented to act as reporter for the "Shanghai Telegraph Co.," and further, the convention did adjourn to drink.

In the afternoon, after a few ballots, it was thought best to take a recess, in order to patch up matters, and A. E. Elmore, of Waukesha, the sage of Mukwonago, and the Grand Sachem of the Oriental and Evangelic order of 1001, moved "that the convention adjourn for a half an hour, and take a unanimous drink." The "Racine Libeller" told the truth, as every one is aware who witnessed the proceedings of the convention.

The convention yesterday was breezy and interesting, and A. F. Pratt reported its proceedings, in the main, correctly, the Milwaukee man to the contrary notwithstanding.

Tom Falvey took "an old fashioned rattle" at Milwaukee, and aimed a strong blow at her "mid riff," which was feebly deprecated by McGarry, and mildly, sincerely parried by Hadley, who was nominated two years ago by Racine votes. Our grand sachem "took a hand in," as it seemed to be a "free fight," and kept the convention in good humor. There were blows made yesterday, the sores from which McGarry cannot heal, nor Hadley plaster.

But it is none of my funeral, and being up a tree, I cry with the sage, "Let the Wolf howl." 1001.

THE AVERAGE PRODUCTION OF WHEAT IN MICHIGAN.—One amongst the questions daily asked, says the Detroit Advertiser, is, what is the average production of wheat in Michigan. We are told that the product this year is but half or two-thirds of a crop. Now what is an average crop? In the returns for the census for 1854, amongst the statistics given, is the number of acres sown to wheat the year before, and the number of bushels harvested. The crop of 1853 was one of the best ever grown in this State, and there was a very large number of acres sown that year more than was sown for the crop of the next year. The number of acres sown with wheat in 1853 was 473,571, and the number of bushels harvested was 7,027,932; making an average crop of 14½ bushels per acre. The average crop therefore for that year, when the crop was a very full one, was 14½ bushels, and when speaking of an average we suppose that this amount should be considered the standard of an average until the next census is taken. Half an average crop in this State would be 7¼ bushels, and two-thirds of a crop would be a little over 9½ bushels per acre. We have had no crop so heavy as that of 1853, since that year; our nearest approach to it was last year.

ARRIVALS AT SARATOGA.—The Saratoga News gives the following interesting paragraph, adding that during the same period last year, at the same houses, the arrivals were 17,138:—

The following is our summing up of the arrivals published from June 21 to Aug. 31, a period of 72 days:—

| | |
|---|---|
| At Congress Hall | 4,781 |
| Union Hall | 3,928 |
| United States Hotel | 3,878 |
| Marvin House | 1,535 |
| Columbian Hotel | 1,528 |
| American Hotel | 805 |
| Smith's Hotel | 528 |
| Exchange Hotel | 814 |
| Commercial Hotel | 664 |
| Making a total of | 18,437 |

So it appears that, notwithstanding the "hard times, the arrivals at Saratoga during the late season are considerably larger than last year.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE GOVERNOR.—E. B. QUINER, L. P. DRAKE and LEOPOLD ROEDER, to appraise the residue of saline lands, granted to the State.

CARL SCHURZ, of Watertown, as Regent of the University, vice EZRA S CARR, resigned.

The Governor has appointed, under chapter 76, laws of 1858, Drs. E. B. WOLCOTT, CHAS. FASSELL, and L. MCKNIGHT, to examine into the alleged lunacy of certain prisoners in Waupun State Prison.

A CHALLENGE!—The Buchanan democracy, through their State Central Committee, have issued a challenge to the Republican party, to meet them on the stump in each Congressional District. The committee state that the National democracy will defend the Supreme Court of the United States in the "Dred Scott" decision, and the Administration of James Buchanan, with the Kansas policy of the National Democratic party. —Chicago Journal.

The "Buchanan Democracy" in this State have no stomach for any such fight, and keep discreetly cool as to the issues in the canvass.

TALL CORN.—On Friday morning of last week, J. F. Pool, of this village, presented us with a stalk of corn which he pulled from out a large field of the same sort, owned and cultivated by James Smith, of Adams, in this county. Said stalk was 13½ feet high, 5 inches around the base, and measured 8 feet and 8 inches to top of the highest ear. This, though not the tallest corn we have seen in Green County, may be safely put down as tall enough for all practical purposes.

From various sources we learn that there is a prospect of an excellent corn crop this season. —Monroe Sentinel.

FIRST WISCONSIN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.—We are rejoiced to learn that the Republicans of the First (Milwaukee) Congressional District in Wisconsin have nominated Hon. John F. Potter, the present faithful member of Congress, for re-election. He was nominated by acclamation.—Chicago Journal.

GAME.—Our friend Courtney, of Milwaukee, made a short stay here of a day or two, in which time he proved the abundance of Game by killing 20 woodcock in two hours, and 50 prairie chickens in two days.—Prairie du Chien Courier, Sept. 2.

A Card from Mr. Melms.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 3, 1858.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—As from the statement of facts made by JAMES B. BROWN, in your paper of the 3d inst., an inference might be drawn by those not acquainted with the circumstances, that I belonged to the number of those who violated their duty to those electing them, by assenting to the fraud practiced upon that gentleman, I wish to make an explanation.

After receiving the note from Mr. BROWN, declining to be a candidate before the Convention, I received a letter from my brother in Chicago requesting my presence in that city. I accordingly delivered the note to PATRICK WALSH, who had been elected Senatorial delegate, as a friend of Mr. BROWN, with a request that he should present it to the Convention, which he agreed to do. My necessary absence in Chicago prevented an earlier explanation to Mr. BROWN.

The latter is not only fully satisfied as to my good faith, but says he never for a moment doubted it.
C. T. MELMS.

No one could for a moment question the good faith of Mr. MELMS in any matter, political, or otherwise, with which he might be connected.

An error occurred, by the way, in the publication of Mr. BROWN's card yesterday. He was made to say that "in the rest of the Counties" his friends had been defeated by fraudulent voting. His letter read "in the rest of the County," the remark being applied to Milwaukee County only.—ED. SENTINEL.

From the Prairie du Chien Leader, Extra.

| | |
|---|---|
| Washburn, | 49 |
| Hanchett, | 15 |
| W. T. Price, | 2 |

Mr. Keyes, of Dane County, in behalf of Mr Hanchett, who was detained at home by sickness in his family, thanked those gentlemen who had voted for him; and in accordance with the request of Mr. Hanchett, withdrew his name from the Convention. This announcement was greeted with applause; and a motion, made by Mr. Mills, of Rock County, to nominate C. C. Washburn by acclamation, was carried amidst tumultuous cheering. Mr. Washburn was accordingly nominated by acclamation. Mr. Alban, of Portage, moved that a committee of three be appointed to inform Mr. Washburn of the choice of the Convention, also to bring him into the Hall. The Chair appointed Messrs. Alban, Stewart and Strong as such committee. Mr. Colburn moved the committee have till after dinner to perform their duties. Whereupon the Convention adjourned until 2 o'clock P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

2½ o'clock.

Mr. Washburn, accompanied by the committee appointed for the purpose of informing him of his nomination, came into the Hall, and was greeted with enthusiastic cheering by the convention. Being loudly called upon to address the meeting, he made a short speech, expressing his thanks for the honor—offering no pledges of his future course—promising to canvass the District during the campaign, &c, &c.

The Committee on Resolutions, through their chairman, Gen. Bull, reported the following, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That by his fearless, steady, and unswerving devotion to Republican principles during his two terms of service in our National council chamber, the Hon. CADWALLADER C WASHBURN has endeared himself to the hearts of all who love liberty. His nomination to-day is a token of our appreciation of his services, and a pledge of the people to return him to the scene of his triumphs with an augmented majority.

Resolved, That the thorough integrity, the sound statesmanship, and the manly independence of the Governor of this State, has compelled the respect of his opponents, the admiration of his friends, and the gratitude of the whole people.

Resolved, That the Republicans of the 2d Congressional District tender to the Governor their undivided and hearty thanks; and while they cannot expect perfection in any human administration of affairs, they do proudly point out as worthy of all commendation, the executive capacity, the incorruptible honesty, and the sterling worth of ALEXANDER W. RANDALL.

Resolved, That the persistent efforts of the National Administration to trample under foot the evident will of the majority, in its attempt to force a slave constitution upon the people of Kansas, is contrary to the genius of our Republican institutions, and merits the decided condemnation of every true Republican; and that we rejoice in the integrity and patriotism of the people of Kansas in rejecting the Lecompton Constitution, with its mingled bribe and threats, and as freemen we extend to them the right hand of fellowship.

Resolved, That we re affirm the principles of the Republican party, as expressed in the Madison platform of 1857.

After the reading of the resolutions, the Convention was eloquently addressed by L. P. Harvey, J. E Vinton, L. H. D. Crane, Hon. S. C Bean and Thomas Reynolds

On motion of Mr. Brainard, the chair appointed a District Committee, composed of the following named persons.

David Atwood, of Dane County.
Chas. Holt, of Rock.
Norman Eastman, of La Crosse.
Wm. Hall, of Crawford.
J. C. Chandler, of Adams.

A vote of thanks was tendered Col. Dousman for the use of his Hall.

The greatest harmony and enthusiasm prevailed throughout the entire proceedings, and the convention adjourned at half past 3, with three rousing cheers for Washburn.

Z. P. BURDICK, President.
J. S. DEAN, Sec'y.

THE THREE WASHBURNE BROTHERS.—We have already announced the re-nomination of Hon. E. B. Washburne, of this State, and of Israel Washburne, of Maine, for Congress.

We now also learn that the Republicans of the Second District of Wisconsin have re-nominated C. C. Washburne.

The three noble brothers are sure of being re-elected, and the people of their respective districts could not be more faithfully represented.—Chicago Journal.

A RAT IN THE CARS—A FAT WOMAN IN TROUBLE.—A day or two since, just as the express train left Stamford, where it had been delayed a few minutes, to wood and water, a rat ran from one corner of the car amidst the feet of the passengers. As soon as it was known that there was a rat on the floor of the car, considerable excitement took place among the ladies, and crinoline took a sudden rise. The passengers struck at the rat, as he dodged from one side of the car to the other, with their umbrellas and canes, but without any effect—the old rat successfully avoided all the thrusts and kicks, and disappeared under the seat of a fat woman, who sat at one end of the car, half asleep. A "committee of one," self appointed, backed up by half a dozen "full grown boys," suggested to the fat lady the propriety of rising to enable them to find the rat.

Now it is no easy matter for a two hundred and fifty pounder, encumbered by a huge mass of crinoline, to rise at a moment's notice, therefore, she declined. She was duly informed of the state of affairs, and of the critical position which she occupied in the eyes of the public, at that moment. Again she was requested to rise, but she positively refused—like certain distinguished politicians, she seemed determined to maintain her position, till a broader and more comprehensive platform was available. Various suggestions as to the rat's whereabouts were made by the "boys" in audible whispers, which made the fat woman and to get her eyes open. Many of the passengers seemed to have an idea of their own, which was quite amusing—lips were compressed—cheeks expanded—teeth, worth from twenty-five dollars to untold fortunes, were exhibited—

"Blush like a full blown rose,"

"There was silence deep as death,
And the boldest held his breath
For a time."

But that time was decidedly short, for at this point the lady in question gave a roll which made the car fairly groan, one or two spasmodic kicks, and the two hundred and fifty pounder shot out of her seat like a skyrocket, upsetting babies and bandboxes, crushing crinoline and beavers, landing about six feet from her seat, upon a little old man, whom she nearly smothered, besides knocking off his wig and otherwise disarranging his toilet—upon which he remarked to himself, that she had better "simmer down," and join the circus. After vigorously shaking her dress, amidst the laughter of the passengers, she regained her seat, and the huge mass of crinoline commenced to settle to its proper place, and quiet once more restored when one of "the boys," whose mirthfulness must be somewhat largely developed, burst out into a "horse laugh." The effect was like a spark in a magazine—the whole car exploded—and the fat woman joined in and laughed as hearty as the merriest. Her jolly old sides shook up and down, and the car springs vibrated, keeping exact time. But what became of the rat is a question.—Hartford Times.

THE SUMMER GRIEF OF HAVANA—FEARFUL RAVAGES OF THE VOMITO.—A correspondent of the National Intelligencer says:

"An hour in Havana, when the vomito reigns, would effectually cure one of all fillibustering to obtain a residence there. Certes no man in right mind would accept it as a bonus, on condition of remaining the year throughout. Winter may diminish but cannot divest the city of its 'summer grief.' As I left the harbor this morning, an officer of the British steamer said, 'And that ship you see by itself, its sails all hang loose, was this morning towed from the wharf and moored there by the authorities—all having died!' The poison was never more plainly discernable than now; no one can forget its smell, nor the stinking fog which, as the sun rises, shoots up and disappears from the hot harbor, like steam from a locomotive without a whistle; for, though all are upon his track, Death gives no warning.—More than half the sailors have died, and if no fresh ones come it must cease. Like stricken victims, a few vessels may be seen leaving the harbor by the first breeze; these few have enough left to sail away, but not enough to manage the empty ship. The truth can only be learned by visiting (at hotels) the sea captains, making acquaintance, and becoming interested in what they tell you. The details would not be credited."

SHORT HAIR.—The style of hair cutting variously known as "fighting," "hospital," and "penitentiary" style, has been somewhat in vogue again this summer. It is a fashion which requires some pluck in the wearer, and subjects him to an infinite number of practical jokes—The only instance we have known when the joke was on the other side, happened a few weeks since. A short-haired friend of ours went with a friend to a neighboring village, and meeting some friends in the bar-room of the Hotel, a bet was proposed. T. wore his hat well over his head, and a wager was made that a stout gentleman from the rural district, then and there present, could not lift him from the floor by the hair of the head. The wager was put up—or rather it went down. T. took his seat on the floor, and the rural gentleman prepared for his task. Imagine his surprise on removing his hat to find that he might as well undertake to lift a cannon ball by the whiskers. After some "cussing and discussing" about such swindling, Rural paid the little bill.—Buffalo Commercial.

TERRIBLE ADVENTURE—AN ENRAGED HORSE.—About five weeks since, Mr. Lewis S Munger, of Topeka, Kansas Territory, formerly of Chicago, while riding on horseback not far from that place, was terribly injured by his horse becoming enraged. The first intimation he had of it, the animal commenced rearing and plunging, but as he did not succeed in throwing his rider, the brute actually laid down and rolled over, thereby bringing Mr. Munger to the ground. Quicker than thought the horse sprung upon the rider, planting his knees upon his prostrate victim, and commenced tearing his arm and shoulder in a shocking manner. Mr. Munger says he had no idea of ever getting away from him alive. He however succeeded in getting the horse by the tongue, and thus conquered the tiger. He then mounted the animal and succeeded in reaching home. The left arm was laid bare to the bone, two-thirds the way to the elbow. It was only by the best care and skill that his life was saved, as the arm mortified the next day.

THE BLACK TONGUE.—The disease, known as the black tongue, which originated among the deer in the forests of Florida, and spread afterwards to the cattle of that and neighboring States, is evidently progressing.

The Petersburg (Va.,) Express says this "dangerous contagion is becoming very common among the cattle in the vicinity of that city, and has attacked some of the milch cows in the city.

The Board of Health there, met and passed a resolution advising that milk, butter and beef to be used with great caution, and only when purchased of persons known to be trustful and responsible.

The Richmond Enquirer says that "a most unaccountable disease has attacked a good many valuable cows in the county of Chesterfield.—One gentleman is reported to have already lost several valuable animals.

In Warren county, N. H., the cattle disease has also made its appearance, and a number of cows have been seriously affected.

A MOTHER'S INFLUENCE.—How touching the tribute of the Hon. T. H. Benton, to his mother's influence:

"My mother asked me never to use tobacco, and I have never touched it from that time to the present day; she asked me not to game, and I have never gamed and I cannot tell who is winning and who is losing in games that can be played. She admonished me, too, against hard drinking; and whatever capacity for endurance I may have at present, and whatever usefulness I may attain in life, I attribute to having complied with her pious wishes. When I was seven years of age, she asked me not to drink, and then I made a resolution of total abstinence, at a time when I was sole constituent member of my own body, and that I have adhered to it through all time, I owe to my mother."

FRANKLIN'S GRAVE—THE LIGHTNING CONSTANTLY FLASHING OVER IT.—At the corner of Fourth and Arch street, Philadelphia, is an old cemetery, and here lie buried the remains of Benjamin Franklin and his wife. A plain, flat slab, with the simple inscription of the names of Benjamin Franklin and his wife Debora, marks the spot. Directly over this grave runs a Telegraph wire, across which the lightning which Franklin first controlled, is constantly flashing communications of intelligence, noting daily the progress of events and incidents of consequence in the world. So a gentleman informs us, who recently visited the grave.—Hartford Times.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—We received a letter from J. D. REYNOLDS, dated at Independence, informing us that that little village was the scene of a destructive fire on the morning of the 28th inst., which burned to the ground the new two story building of J. H. Dickens and also the building of our informant. The latter's loss was not less than $2,000, while the exact loss of Mr. Dickens is not known, though it cannot fall far short of $1,000.—Prairie du Chien Courier, Sept. 2.

OUR CITY.—By a census just taken it is found that McGregor contains near 2000 inhabitants. In May 1856, it had 240, in January 1857, 662, and on Sept 1st 1858, we count 1983, having trebled in the past twenty months. If any other town in the vicinity can show a like increase during the same time, let them speak quick or we shall think McGregor is growing the fastest of any town in the West.—McGregor Times, Sept. 1.

ALONE WITH GOD.

[The Home Journal says: "The enclosed devout utterance entitled, 'Alone with God,' by Mary Clemmer Ames, is the sweet heart breath of a young woman, formerly of this city, now in the far West, the devoted wife of a Christian Minister."]

Alone with God! day's craven cares
Have crowded onward unawares:
The soul is left to breathe her prayers.

Alone with God! I bare my breast,
Come in, come in, O holy guest,
Give rest—thy rest, of rest the best!

Alone with God! how calm a calm
Steals o'er me, sweet as music's balm,
When seraphs sing a seraph's psalm.

Alone with God! no human eye
Is here with eager look to pry
Into the meaning of each sigh.

Alone with God! no jealous glare
Now stings me with its torturing stare;
No human malice says—beware!

Alone with God! from earth's rude crowd,
With jostling steps, and laughter loud,
My better soul I need not shroud.

Alone with God! He only knows
If sorrow's ocean overflows
The silent spring from whence it rose.

Alone with God! He mercy lends;
Life's fainting hope, life's meagre ends,
Life's dwarfing pain He comprehends.

Alone with God! He feeleth well
The soul's pent life that will o'erwell;
The life-long want no words may tell!

Alone with God! still nearer bend;
O, tender Father, condescend
In this my need, to be my friend.

Alone with God! with suppliant mien,
Upon thy pitying breast I lean,
Nor less because thou art unseen.

Alone with God! safe in thine arms,
O shield me from life's wild alarms,
O save me from life's fearful harms.

Alone with God! my Father, bless
With thy celestial pow'rs,
The soul that needs thy tenderness.

Alone with God! O, sweet to me
This covert to whose shade I flee,
To breathe repose in thee—in thee!

From Dickens' Household Words.

THE DEVIL'S MARK.

On the morning of August the first, sixteen hundred and fourteen, the village of Hambleton was the scene of much lively bustle which rallied chiefly round the dwelling of Master Simon, farrier, blacksmith, and wheel wright for the township. Master Simon's only daughter Rose—the White Rose of Hambleton, the folks called her—was going to be married that day to her cousin, Richard Nicholl, who had come to Hambleton about a year before to work at the forge for his kinsman, whose strength was declining, and had fallen in love at once with the pretty and warm-hearted Rose. They were a very well matched couple of young people, for if she was as blooming and sweet as her name, Richard was the goodliest man in that parish, and many another. She was nineteen, and he was twenty-six—both of them in the full glow and excellence of youth.

The forge fire was out that morning, and if any traveler's horse had chosen to cast a shoe near the village, he must have gone a couple of miles further, to Wistlebank, before the damage could have been repaired. In Master Simon's cottage were collected half the women of the place, but Rose's chamber was the favorite point, for there the young maiden's toilet was being accomplished by half-a-dozen of her particular friends. We ought not to go into the mysterious sanctum, I know; but for the telling of our story it is necessary that we should look through the doorway and over the heads of the crowding gossips, and listen also to the remarks of the handmaidens engaged in their agreeable tasks. The costume of those days was not remarkable either for its picturesqueness or its grace; but Rose's pretty shape and sweet face were proof against its disfigurements. She stood in the centre of the room, fair and blushing, in a petticoat of remarkable stiffness and a bodice of preternatural length, her gold colored hair rolled up elaborately, and a highly-starched ruff lying close at hand to imprison her round white throat.

There was not one of the half-dozen friends so beautiful as Rose; but one of them—the chief it seemed—from her being the putter on of the bows and decorative paraphernalia of the dress had a singular countenance—cold, repellant, and stone-grey. The blackness of her eye-brows, which met and were depressed over her eyes, gave her a furtive, stealthy expression, and her narrow scarlet lips, while they indicated a sensual disposition, showed also one of cruelty and vindictiveness. She was older than most of the girls, but still quite young, and had pretensions to beauty which she was more ready to assert than others were to allow. Everybody, however, Rose included, treated her with a certain respect, for she was waiting-woman to my lady the wife of Sir Roger Bedinfield, at Hambleton Hall.—Her name was Mistress Gilbert, and she was reputed to possess philters and love charms, which in those good old times were held in high repute, not only amongst silly maidens but even amongst wise and discreet matrons. One charm, however, Mistress Gilbert did not possess—that charm which would have charmed Richard Nicholls' heart out of his bosom. Her disappointed hopes had been a sly theme of talk many a time in the village, and even Rose herself had shared in it. Possibly that was the reason why, when Mistress Gilbert's chilly hands gilded so stealthily about her person, a slight shiver kept runnig over her flesh.

"You are cold, Rose," said the waiting-woman; "shut the window, some of you. You shudder all over when you are touched."

"It can't be that her enemy is walking over the place where her grave is to be," remarked a careless young body who looked straight at Mistress Gilbert, and then turned red under the cold scrutiny that she received from her cruel eyes.

"Rose is too good to have an enemy. Every one loves her," said the waiting-woman slowly: directly she had spoken she approached her lips to the white polished shoulder, and blew softly at a tiny brown mark, and then brushed it with her hand carelessly.

"You will have to blow a long time before you blow away that little mole, Mistress Gilbert," laughed Rose; "I was born with it."

"I am short-sighted this morning: I mistook it for a fly;" and the waiting woman began to arrange the starched ruff.

Rose would have been glad to dispense with the honor of Mistress Gilbert's company at her marriage, because Richard Nicholl did not like her, and also because the waiting woman's aspirations after the handsome young smith, offended her feminine prejudices; but Mistress Gilbert invited herself for the purpose of dressing the bride, and even lent her taste and skill in composing the attire to be worn on the occasion, so there was no evading her cold, uncomfortable presence. When the ceremony was over in the chamber, and Rose's beauty was eclipsed as far as it could be by her stiff clothing, she was ushered into the living room, where were her father, Richard, as fine as herself, and the male friends of the family.

Richard received her with a fine honest blush which was more softly reflected on her own face; and, after a short interval, the whole company fell into order, two and two, to walk across the green to church, where Parson Phillips was waiting to marry the young pair. My Lady Bedinfield and two of her daughters had thought right to honor the ceremony by coming to look on from the elevation of the family pew, and afterwards to praise the rustic grace of the White Rose of Hambleton. Mistress Lucy Bedinfield and her sister Elizabeth would have given half their rich clothing for a tint out of her cheeks; they were but sickly young gentlewomen on whose complexions Mistress Gilbert's various washes had no effect at all, unless it were to make them deader and duller than even Nature—who colored them in one of her penurious pallid moods—had ever intended.

When Rose walked out of church, her pretty blue eyes downcast, and holding Richard's arm, the folks inside blessed her softly as became the place, and those outside gave them a cheer, after which the bells rang out a famous wedding peal. Mistress Gilbert's clayey visage looked colder and more clayey than ever as they disappeared. Nobody heeded her, and she did not choose to follow the returning party to Master Simon's house; but when my Lady Bedinfield, the rabble being dispersed, issued stately from the family pew with her daughters behind her, she was graciously told that she might walk with them to the Hall. Perhaps my lady loved a little gossip as much as if she were a mere common person; and, if so, her waiting-woman was just the person to gratify her, not being in the least scrupulous that her intelligence should be fact rather than fiction.

"They are a pretty pair of lovers, I'm sure, and Rose's dress was uncommon gay;" said Lady Bedinfield, who had a mother's heart. "Her cheek could not have looked fresher if it had been painted. Gilbert, your new wash for the face is quite useless," querulously observed Mistress Elizabeth. "I am sure it dries the skin."

"Natural roses have the finest bloom," replied Lady Bedinfield, who had been a beauty herself, and was still a handsome woman. She sometimes had a little spite against her daughters for being so unmanageably plain.

"Rose Nicholl's bloom looks natural," said Mistress Gilbert with an air of sarcastic respect: "it looks even brighter than nature."

"You are jealous, Gilbert, we know all about the young suitor's indifference to black eyes when blue eyes are willing to shine on him," returned Lady Bedinfield, with a jolly laugh—she was above caring for her waiting woman's feelings, and, besides, she had just been touched and pleased by the pretty scene in the church. A marriage always refreshed her and made her think of her own youth.

Mistress Gilbert's face blushed lividly. That taunt was not needed to increase that deadly hatred she had conceived for Richard and his young wife. She dropped behind and would not answer when spoken to. Lady Bedinfield called to her just as they were entering the house, and said in the same tone of mockery, "If Rose's beauty is all paint, why don't you put it on too, Gilbert?"

"I did not say it was all paint, my lady. I wish it were. It would be the less harm," replied the waiting woman.

"If it is neither Nature nor paint, what is it?" asked Lady Bedinfield.

"It is devil's beauty. I saw his mark on her neck to-day," said Mistress Gilbert.

Lady Bedinfield laughed again, but this time in a less loud and assured manner. Scarcely any one in those very good old times was altogether free from the black plague spot of superstition, and she was neither better nor wiser than her age. She entered her house in silence, and Mistress Gilbert, pacing her room that night vehemently, as a caged wild beast newly caught, rejoiced to think that she had dropped on her rival's fair fame, the first deadly drop of that corrosive poison, which she hoped, ere long, to see blacken and blast it utterly.

II.

The apartments of the two sisters at Bedinfield Hall adjoined, and Mistress Gilbert passed from one to the other attending on the young ladies. There was company that day; especially there was one young gallant named Sir Henry Cavendish, whom either of the girls would have been proud to captivate; for, not only was he handsome, brave and accomplished, but he was also wealthy. Mistress Lucy stood before her mirror fully dressed; but there was dissatisfaction on her countenance,—she had small, delicate features, but her skin was cloudy, her eyes were lacking in brilliancy. Mistress Elizabeth was even worse favored; for her visage was long and lean as well as colorless, and her eyes were not so perfectly set as they might have been. The waiting-women have suffered something from their tongues that morning, as her chafed and hurried manner betrayed.

"You will soon be of no more use to us than a mole, Gilbert. Can you not see how thick my complexion is to-day?" said Mistress Lucy, pointing to her own reflection in the glass; she always laid the blame of nature's defects on her abigail.

"Yes, Mistress Lucy. I see—" she hesitated a minute, opened a door to look into the passage, and then whispered hurriedly, "I have a powder that I got from Mistress Turner, in London; but if I let you have some my lady must never know."

"Ah, good Gilbert, I will not tell her; speak low that Elizabeth may not hear. How does this powder affect one?"

"It preserves youth, makes the skin smooth and gives it a bloom like a little child's; but it is highly dangerous."

"How dangerous? Is it poison?"

Mistress Elizabeth, overhearing the mysterious whispering, crept stealthily behind her door, watched through a chink, and listened. The arrival of Sir Henry Cavendish had sown jealousy between the sisters.

"It is a mineral poison, but with care, and in very small quantities, it is safe. In a week you would be as fair as Rose Nicholl. Will you try it? or do you fear the risk?"

"O! I will try it. I would try anything to have a face like that young smith's wife; but promise me not to let Elizabeth have any."

Mistress Gilbert gave the required pledge, and then stole away to her own chamber to fetch the powder. The watcher waited for her return impatiently. When Gilbert re-entered the room she brought in her hand a small box of ebony, which she opened with a key attached to a chain hidden under her ruff. Elizabeth listened breathlessly; but she could not quite catch all that was said. But she saw a small packet given to her sister, and by her, after a portion of its contents had been extracted for immediate use, deposited in her jewel-box. How that taken out was used, she could not see; for Mistress Gilbert carried it to where stood the ewer and basin, and thither went Mistress Lucy to apply it; but she heard the waiting woman say, "It will sink—mingle it well with water;" so she conjectured that it was something to be swallowed, and determined that she herself would soon have a face as fair as Rose, the smith's wife, if it only depended on taking the powder hidden in the jewel-box.

The application of the powder made no perceptible improvement in Mistress Lucy's face that day, and Sir Henry Cavendish was by no means charmed out of his senses; but, in the course of the week, there was certainly a change for the better, and Mistress Elizabeth—who had not yet found an opportunity to lay her hands upon any of the powder—became more and more eager to profit by its beautifying effects.—One evening Mistress Lucy left her chain with the jewel-box key fastened to it on her table, and her sister, who had never ceased to watch, availed herself of this chance to possess herself of a good portion of what remained of the powder. She immediately mixed a little of it with water, and drank it.

Very soon she was seized with pain, nausea, and sickness; but not so severely as to enforce greater caution in using the powder, for she repeated the dose daily. She suffered, but her skin acquired a clearness which it had never known before, and this would have reconciled her to anything short of martyrdom. Her store being exhausted, and the key falling no more into her possession, she was obliged for the time to desist from her beguiling experiments. Mistress Lucy, however still steadily continued her applications—she used the water in which the powder was dissolved as a cosmetic—but, though her complexion became clearer, it did not gain the much coveted bloom of the village smith's wife. Both the sisters would occasionally visit her in her cottage, and as Rose's beauty was on the blush always when they so honored her, they went away each time more emulous and more envious than before. At last, Mistress Gilbert's ebony box was empty, and no more of the powder could be obtained until Sir Roger Bedinfield went up to London with his family, when Mistress Turner might be induced to part with more at a price something like twice its weight in gold. Mistress Lucy was very impatient at this delay, but at length, though Mistress Turner was then in trouble, for the murder of Sir Thomas Overbury in the Tower, a supply was obtained from another person, and the beautifying discipline was recommenced by the elder sister at once. Whether some more deadly ingredient was now mingled with it, or it was unskillfully prepared, or, what is still more probable, Mistress Lucy used it incautiously, and too often, it now began to work on the muscles of the face, and the miserable girl awoke one morning with her mouth drawn on one side, and frightfully disfigured. Mistress Gilbert, terrified at her appearance, and rightly attributing it to the cosmetic, to shield herself from all suspicion, immediately exclaimed that her young lady was bewitched—and, as all new or ill-understood disease was, in those good old times, laid to supernatural influence, this was readily believed. But, bewitched or poisoned, poor young Mistress Lucy's days of vanity were past, and she would never charm Sir Henry Cavendish, or any gay gallant, with her face again; Mistress Elizabeth was so much shocked and grieved for some days that she forgot to profit by all the opportunities that, at this crisis, fell in her way for appropriating the powder; and, when she recovered her spirits, and looked for it in the jewel-box, she found that it had been removed. At first she thought of frightening Mistress Gilbert into giving her some by threatening to tell Lady Bedinfield, but caution interposed to remind her how many petty secrets of hers the waiting-women could employ against her if so disposed. Therefore she determined to wait until they returned in spring to Hambleton, when she would endeavor to get at the precious store kept in the ebony box itself.

III.

Lady Bedinfield devoted herself like a good mother to her afflicted daughter; and, when they retired to their country-house—where the only amusements were such as her health and spirits were far too broken to enjoy—they might be seen almost daily wandering through the shrubberies together, or sitting under the trees. Poor Mistress Lucy could not bear to be seen by the most intimate friends, or even by the villagers, and, the idea that she had been bewitched, gained ground fast.

Mistress Gilbert was one of those patient haters who never balk themselves of their revenge by rushing upon it prematurely. To screen her own malpractices she had said at first that Mistress Lucy was bewitched; but it did not occur to her then to turn this to the furtherance of her schemes against Rose Nicholl. One lovely June evening, however, in passing by the smith's cottage, she saw a gathering of the village goodies, who told her that the White Rose, her detested rival, had just got a little son: and, a week or two later, she saw the young mother [illegible] standing at her open window with her child in her arms, and the stalwart smith leaning o[illegible] making gentle paternal advances, to her great and laughing delight. Mistress Gilbert's heart felt like a lump of molten lead in her bosom at this picture. She stopped and looked at it wickedly over the hedge for several minutes and then rushed rapidly homewards. Her plan was maturing.

A dreadful scene [illegible] the house was in an uproar, [illegible] running hither and thither calling for this thing and that, in frantic haste. Mistress Elizabeth was ill, she was dying—dying in agonies: her shrieks could be heard all over the house.

"She is poisoned," said Lady Bedinfield, who was shuddering and weeping by her daughter's writhing form; but Mistress Gilbert, bending over the [illegible] her ash-grey face, said: "No, I have seen these convulsions before; she is bewitched, like Mistress Lucy."

Every one in the room paused aghast with their remedies; but Lady Bedinfield said, "Who can pursue our family with such a relentless hatred? There is worthy Parson Phillips coming to our aid; let him be admitted."

While the parson recited his prayers, Mistress Elizabeth died. "She had been poisoned," he also observed; but the doctor not being able to name the drug that had killed her, certainly countenanced Mistress Gilbert's idea, that she had been bewitched. The waiting-woman was not long in discovering where Mistress Elizabeth had found her fatal [illegible]. Advantage had been taken of her absence to break open the ebony box and abstract the cosmetic powder. Too large an internal dose had done its work for ever.

From the time of her sister's death, poor Mistress Lucy's health began fast to decline. She became subject to long fits of melancholy depression, and more than ever avoided seeing strangers. Still, she would go out of doors, and her favorite haunt was a sunny knoll in the plantation, where she would sit for hours with either her mother or Mistress Gilbert. Any sudden noise, even the flight of a bird from one branch to another, would cause her to tremble convulsively, as if with overwhelming dread; for the poor girl had heard it said that she was bewitched, and the idea worked on her imagination until she believed it. It happened one morning while in the wood, as usual, that Rose Nicholl—with her baby in her arms on her way to the Hall, to show him to Lady Bedinfield, as she had received commands to do—passed within sight of Mistress Lucy and the waiting-woman. Rose was singing as blithely as any bird, never noticed the two under the trees; but Mistress Lucy began to shudder and cry out.

"Is it Rose Nicholl that has bewitched you, Mistress Lucy?" asked Mistress Gilbert earnestly.

"Yes, yes," replied the nervous creature, following the retreating figure with wild eyes.

"I always thought so! I saw the devil's mark upon her neck the day she was married," cried the waiting-woman triumphantly.

When they retured home, Mistress Lucy told her mother that all her deformity and all her present illness had been inflicted upon her by the malice of Rose Nicholl, the smith's wife, and that the sight of her threw her into convulsions such as those in which her sister died.—Lady Bedinfield was troubled, she consulted her husband, who was remarkable for anything rather than sagacity, and proposed to have Rose tried by one of the common prickers, who made it their business to go from place to place discovering witches and bringing them to punishment. Sir Roger consented, and Mistress Gilbert having undertaken to procure a witchfinder, innocent, unconscious Rose was indicated to him as a suspected person; and, full of the importance of his office, the pricker went to the smith's house, when he was at his forge. Master Simon also was away from home, and Rose, with her baby asleep in her lap, sat sewing diligently, like the good housewife and house-mother that she was. The pricker obtained an entrance into the cottage by pleading that he had walked far and was tired, so the unsuspicious Rose bade him rest himself, and gave him some refreshment. Presently two of the village women sauntered in, ostensibly to see the baby, but in reality, by preconcert with the pricker, to help in the examination. They all began to talk, and presently led the conversation round to the subject of witches and warlocks. There had been many hundreds of wicked and cruel executions in England during recent years for the crime of witchcraft, and Rose had heard of them, like others; indeed a witch had been swum and drowned in Hambleton mill-pond within her own memory. She expressed great commiseration for this old woman, and said that she believed many unfortunates were the victims of the malice of their enemies, rather than real criminals, as was pretended. The pricker took umbrage at this remark, perhaps because Mistress Gilbert's bribe lay heavy on his conscience at the moment; and thinking to daunt Rose, he exclaimed that she herself was a notorious witch and evil-liver, and he was there to prove it.

Rose started up; and, when the two women approached to lay hold on her, she broke from them, and rushed out at the door shrieking—"Richard, Richard help me!"

The hammer was not going on the forge just then, and the smith heard her. Clutching a stout cudgel, he ran to the spot and, while the two assistants decamped, he seized the pricker in a grasp like a vice, and without waiting for explanation, proceeded to belabor him so soundly that the miserable official was likely to have a skin full of sorely-aching bones for a month to come.

When her husband paused, Rose said, bitterly weeping: "He is a witch finder, Richard, and declares that I am a witch. He came here to prove it. O, where, where shall we fly? You know, dear husband; that I am your own true wife, and no wicked witch. Don't you, love?"—She clung to him beseechingly. In those good old times there were few ties of blood or of affection that did not break under this terrible accusation; but the smith loved his Rose dearly; and, having an intense antipathy to the manipulations of such odious gentry as the pricker, his wrath was so far increased by the idea that they might have been exercised on his young wife, as to find it indispensable to beat him again, and then throttle him until he confessed that he had received a bribe from Mistress Gilbert to accuse Rose. A second shaking made him give up the instrument with which he proposed to prick for the devil's mark, which all witches bore on their persons. This instrument was a steel needle with a hollow handle, into which it retired under very slight pressure, coming out again when that pressure was withdrawn, so that though it appeared to run into the flesh, it in reality did not even break the skin; as the devil's mark could be pricked, as was asserted, without the witch feeling any pain and without blood following the withdrawal of the needle, this ingenious piece of mechanism answered every malicious purpose; and, with its lying witness, did to death many a poor innocent wretch; who, after conviction, was tortured into confessing every enormity that the diseased imaginations of wicked or superstitious examiners could devise. The smith was a something of an mechanician himself, and immediately discovered the secret of the instrument, which he determined to carry to Parson Philips. As luck would have it, the minister was coming across the green at the moment, he hailed him to come in, and related what had been threatened against Rose.

"These common prickers are common knaves, I hope you have ——," the parson glanced significantly at the cudgel, as much as to add, "used it well!" The smith nodded affirmatively.

The pricker was trying to sneak off, but Richard stopped him, and said no—not until he had been before Sir Richard Bedinfield and had a judicial whipping as a cheat, and then a ducking by the village folk; who would be glad to give him one when they saw how very readily they might, any, or all of them, be proved witches and wizards by the painless trial of the pricking instrument. A good number of the rustics had gathered at a respectable distance from the cottage, waiting for the issue of what was going on there, the news of which the two women had taken pains to spread; and, when then they saw the official dragged out by the smith, Parson Phillips following, and Rose looking out from the doorway, a few of them felt glad that the pretty white Rose of their village had escaped the dangerous trial; but when the smith came amongst them and exhibited the trick of the witchfinder's needle, nothing could satisfy them except the summary administration of justice there and then; so the bruised wretch was hauled off to the mill-pond, ducked until he was half dead, and then driven out of the village with hoots and execrations.

Mistress Gilbert was foiled of her revenge for the present; but she said with a deadly tenacity: "Though he was not a true witch finder, that does not make Rose Nicholl less a witch."

And the village began to look coldly on the smith's wife, and to avoid passing near her door, lest she should blight them and theirs with her evil eye.

IV.

The very name of witch was fatal in those good old times. No one could long bear it with impunity; and this poor Rose well knew. To see herself hated and feared poisoned her life with a dread that the general feeling might extend itself to her husband, her father, and her child. Sometimes she wished she were dead, as the only way to escape from the indignities and cruelties which she had heard of as inflicted upon other women probably as innocent of witchcraft as herself.

Six months after the visit of the pricker, Mistress Lucy Bedinfield died, and the old report that she had been bewitched was revived, with the addition that it was Rose Nicholl, and Rose Nicholl only who had laid upon her the spells that had destroyed her.

Every calamity that happened in the village was now laid to the charge of the smith's wife. If an old person died from age, Rose had bewitched him or her; if a baby perished from weakness, Rose had bewitched it; if a crop failed, Rose had bewitched the seed; if the corn when heavy in the ear was laid by violent rain, Rose had raised the storm; if a horse cast a shoe, Rose had bewitched the nails, or the hammer, or the anvil. Rose might look as innocent and pretty as she would, but popular superstition declared her to be [illegible]

V.

Mistress Gilbert scarcely found her schemes work so quickly as she desired; but, an unexpected aid came to her from another quarter. A poor old woman at Whistlebank was tried for witchcraft, and under her tortures, she gave a list of names of persons whom she said she had herself seen at the Sabbath, or general meeting of witches and warlocks. She did not, at first, mention Rose Nicholl but, the name being sugested to her, she also avowed that she had seen her, at no later ago than the previous Friday night. All the accused were immediately arrested, and carried before Sir Roger Bedinfield, and two other magistrates as sapient as himself. In vain did Richard Nicholl swear, that at the time his wife was stated to be present at the horrible mysteries of the witches' Sabbath, she was sleeping comfortably at his side; he was told that the devil deceived him by putting a resemblance of her in her place, that he might not discover her nocturnal absences. The poor smith was nearly maddened, but what answer could a man make to magistrates, who were so deeply in the fiend's confidence, as to know every stratagem he employed; Richard was persuaded of his wife's innocence, but he could not prevail on others to believe in it; and though Parson Phillips protested against the confessions of an old woman crazed by pain, being received as evidence against Rose and her so-called accomplices, no attention was paid to his remonstrance, and they were all confined until the day when they were to be tried.

These must have been strange times that folks now call "good old times," when a man who loved his wife more fondly than anything else in the world, could ejaculate fervently, "Thank God!" when he was told that she was dead. Two days after poor Rose was thrown into prison, Parson Phillips brought these tidings to the smith, and said that he had leave to bring her body home and give her Christian burial. Terrified at the accusation brought against her, deprived of her child and her husband, the young creature was seized with fever, and died in her prison—by God's mercy both the parson and Richard thought, for thereby she escaped the escaped the doom of her companions in misfortune, against whose names stands in the criminal records of the time, the fatal words—"convict and byrnt."

The smith brought his poor White Rose home on the third anniversary of their marriage; and the next day she was interred, with all the rites of the church, amidst the too late repentance of her persecutors. Master Simon and Richard stood by the grave in angry sorrow, and directly opposite them, with her wicked eyes fixed on the smith's face, was Mistress Gilbert. As he was moving away, at last their glances met; the waiting woman laughed triumphantly, and pointed downwards at the coffin with a a significant air. Richard looked at her steadily for a moment, and then said in a deep concentrated tone, which the hearers recalled afterwards as a tone of prophecy. "Ay, Mistress Gilbert, there lies the body of my poor Rose, that you hated, and her spirit is safe in heaven. You may laugh now, but you shall not laugh long. The day is near when your body shall raise a lowe that shall be seen from Whistlebank to Carnridge, and your spirit shall skirl to be heard from Hecklestone for three miles round." Mistress Gilbert only laughed the louder as she marched away.

But Richard Nicholl's words came true.

The Hecklestone was a tall block of granite, set up in Hambledon park, on an elevation about a hundred yards from the house. So long as it remained, there were two marks upon the top, which tradition said were made by the burning hands of Mistress Gilbert; she was set on fire accidentally, and, flying from the house, in her agony she ran up to the Hecklestone, screaming and clung to it, blazing all over, until the light was seen from Whistlebank to Carnridge, and her cries were heard for three miles round." People ran to her help, but the story goes that the fire resisted every effort to put it out. Mistress Gilbert was burnt to ashes: and wherever the wind scattered them, says tradition, the ground was forever after barren.

G. SIMMONDS,
SOLE PROPRIETOR AND MANUFACTURER OF
PURE OHIO
Catawba Brandy.

THIS Brandy has been manufactured for several years from the pure juice of the Catawba Grape, thus affording additional evidence, of the progress of American enterprise and industry, and of our ability to produce articles at home, equal to those made by any other nation.

The Ohio Catawba Brandy, not only equals but excels the best Imported Brandies, in purity and flavor. It is in fact the best Brandy known. This statement is fully corroborated by the certificates of our most distinguished analytical chemists.

The want of pure brandy has long been felt in this country, and the introduction of an article of such quality as to supersede the sale and use of those vile compounds hitherto sold under the name of Brandy, can only be regarded a great public good. The Catawba Brandy posses all the good qualities claimed for the best imported liquors, and is of perfect purity, and superior flavor, and a sovereign and sure remedy for

THE LIVER
INVIGORATOR!
PREPARED BY DR. SANFORD,
COMPOUNDED ENTIRELY FROM GUMS,

IS one of the best purgative and Liver medicines now before the public, that acts as a Cathartic, easier, milder and more effectual than any other medicine known. It is not only a Cathartic, but a Liver remedy, acting first on the Liver to eject its morbid matter, then on the stomach and bowels to carry off that matter, thus accomplishing two purposes effectually, without any of the painful feelings experienced in the operations of most Cathartics. It strengthens the system at the same time that it purges it; and when taken daily in moderate doses, will strengthen and build it up with unusual rapidity.

The LIVER is one of the principal regulators of the human body; and when it performs its functions well the powers of the system are fully developed. The stomach is almost entirely dependent on the healthy action of the Liver for the proper performance of its functions; when the stomach is at fault, the bowels are at fault, and the whole system suffers in consequence of one organ—the LIVER—having ceased to do its duty. For the diseases of that organ one of the proprietors has made it his study, in a practice of more than twenty years, to find some remedy wherewith to counteract the many derangements to which it is liable.

To prove that this remedy is at last found, any person troubled with LIVER COMPLAINT, in any of its forms, has but to try a bottle, and conviction is certain.

These Gums remove all morbid or bad matter from the system, supplying in their place a healthy flow of bile, invigorating the stomach, causing food to digest well, PURIFYING THE BLOOD, giving tone and health to the whole machinery, removing the cause of the disease,—effecting a radical cure.

BILIOUS ATTACKS are cured, AND WHAT IS BETTER, PREVENTED, by the occasional use of the LIVER INVIGORATOR.

One dose after eating is sufficient to relieve the stomach and prevent the food from rising and souring.

Only one dose taken before retiring prevents NIGHTMARE.

Only one dose taken at night, loosens the bowels gently, and cures COSTIVENESS.

One dose taken after each meal will cure DYSPEPSIA.

☞ One dose of two teaspoonfuls will always relieve SICK HEADACHE.

One bottle taken for female obstruction removes the cause of the disease, and makes a perfect cure.

Only one dose immediately relieves CHOLIC, while

One dose often repeated is a sure cure for CHOLERA MORBUS, and a preventive of CHOLERA.

☞ Only one bottle is needed to throw out of the system the effects of medicine after a long sickness.

☞ One bottle taken for JAUNDICE removes all sallowness or unnatural color from the skin.

One dose taken a short time before eating gives vigor to the appetite, and makes food digest well.

One dose often repeated cures CHRONIC DIARRHOEA in its worst forms, while SUMMER and BOWEL complaints yield almost to the first dose.

One or two doses cures attacks caused by WORMS in Children; there is no surer, safer, or speedier remedy in the world, as it never fails.

☞ A few bottles cures DROPSY, by exciting the absorbents.

We take pleasure in recommending this medicine as a preventive for FEVER AND AGUE, CHILL FEVER, and all FEVERS of a BILIOUS TYPE. It operates with certainty, and thousands are willing to testify to its wonderful virtues.

ALL WHO USE IT ARE GIVING THEIR UNANIMOUS TESTIMONY IN ITS FAVOR.

☞ MIX WATER IN THE MOUTH WITH THE INVIGORATOR, AND SWALLOW BOTH TOGETHER.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR

IS A SCIENTIFIC MEDICAL DISCOVERY, and is daily working cures almost too great to believe. It cures as if by magic, even the first dose giving benefit, and seldom more than one bottle is required to cure any kind of LIVER Complaint, from the worst Jaundice or Dyspepsia to a common Headache, all of which are the result of a DISEASED LIVER.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

THE GREATEST
MEDICAL DISCOVERY!!
OF THE AGE!

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures

EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, FROM
THE WORST SCROFULA DOWN TO A COMMON PIMPLE.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimple on the face.

Two or three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three or five bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruptions of the skin.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of ringworm.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three or four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

One to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of dyspepsia. I know from the experience of thousands that it has, caused by a canker in the stomach.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure sick headache.

One to two bottles are warranted to regulate a costive state of the bowels.

One to two bottles will regulate all derangement of the kidneys.

Four to six bottles have cured the worst cases of dropsy.

One to three bottles have cured the worst case of piles a relief is always experienced. What a mercy to get relief in such an excruciating disease!

Since its first discovery, I have from time to time added various other herbs to it; of one of them, Hippocrates, the Father of Medicine, says: "It is an herb of Jupiter, and in the sign Leo."

"It openeth obstructions of the liver, gall and spleen; it is an especial friend to the liver, worth all other herbs put together; cooling it when too hot, and warming it when too cold.

"It createth an apetite, cureth all pone and sinking feelings in the pit of the stomach, easeth all pains and stitches in the side.

"It cureth the jaundice by opening the gall, and restoreth the native color of the blood.

"It expels all raw, viscous and slimy humors out of the body; it cleanseth all inward ulcers and congealed blood from the kidneys.

"By opening obstructions of the spleen, it purgeth all burnt choler and melancholy vapors which riseth to the head and brain, causing distressing headache, fearful foreboding of trouble, trembling of the heart, fainting and swooning.

"The herb boiled in wine is particularly good to revive the drooping spirit of the aged and whoever has a lingering sickness after a fever, nothing restoreth him to health so quick as drinking the juice of this herb.

"The seed boiled in water cureth the most offensive breath, and, drank at bedtime, preventeth what is commonly called nightmare, and all melancholy dreams, a disease bilious people are liable to."

The Father of Medicine says of another herb in this composition, that "it is an herb of the Sun, and in the sign Leo.

"The sun is the source of all life, and ruleth the heart; and this herb is the best cordial, the greatest strengthener of the heart of any that grows; it comforteth the heart, cureth all palpitation thereof; taketh away trembling, fainting and smothering of it; yet it must be taken carefully, or severe gripings will ensue, which must be corrected with fennel seed or ginger.

"So much for this herb, between which and the adder there is the utmost antipathy; so much so that the adder will not touch him that has the herb about him."

No change of diet every necessary—eat the best you can get and enough of it.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults one table spoonful per day—Children over ten years dessert spoonful—Children from five to eight years, tea spoonful. As no directions can be applicable to all constitutions take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS.

THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce the best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these PILLS have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win unprecedentedly upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood and expel the disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distempers, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart healthy tone with strength to their whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill.—While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated they are pleasant to take; and being purely vegetable are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that my preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men.

The Agents below named are pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing directions for their use and certificates of their cures of numerous complaints.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with some other pill they make more profit on. Ask for AYER'S PILLS and take nothing else. No other they can give you compares with this in its intrinsic value or curative powers. The sick want the best aid there is for them and they should have it.

To-day the market experienced one of those temporary depressions which are so difficult to account for, and prices of wheat declined 2a3c on nearly all grades, with scarcely any transactions. The New York and other eastern markets are without change, but the cause of this decline is probably to be found in the fact that our market is, and has been inflated to an unusual extent for some time past. That is, if we take the condition of the New York market as a standard to go by. It is evident, however, that the eastern and western people think very differently in regard to the future condition of the market. In the west few, when the extent of the wheat failure is fully known, people, as a general thing, are of the impression that the prices of breadstuffs must rule high the coming fall and winter, while eastern dealers, for reasons best known to themselves, it is also apparent, are of a different opinion. These causes, or rather, opinions, thus far, have produced contrary effects here and there, that is, stimulating the western and depressing the eastern markets. This is demonstrated in the fact that in our market, prices have, for a considerable part of the time, of late, been equal to, and sometimes above those of the New York market, and the same state of things exists elsewhere throughout the west. We quote to-day:

MORE TO BE ADMIRED THAN THE RICHEST DIADEM
EVER
Worn by Kings or Emperors,

WHAT? WHY A BEAUTIFUL HEAD OF HAIR.

Because it is the ornament God Himself provided for all our race. Reader, although the rose may bloom ever so brightly on the glowing cheek, the eye be ever so sparkling, the teeth be those of pearls, if the head is bereft of its covering, or the hair be snarled and shriveled, harsh and dry, or worse still, if sprinkled with gray, nature will lose more than half her charms. Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, if used two or three times a week, will restore and permanently secure to all such an ornament. Read the following and judge. The writer of the first is the celebrated Pianist, Thalberg:

Dr. Wood:— New York, April 19th, 1858.

Dear Sir: Permit me to express to you the obligation I am under for the entire restoration of my hair to its original color. About the time of my arrival in the United States it was rapidly becoming gray, but upon the application of your Hair Restorative, it soon recovered its former hue. I consider your Hair Restorative as a very wonderful invention—quite efficacious as well as agreeable.
I am, dear sir, yours truly,
S. THALBERG.

"Drych a'r Gwyliedydd,"
Welsh Newspaper Office,
113 Nassau st., April 14, 1858.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: Some month or six weeks ago I received a bottle of your Hair Restorative and gave it to my wife, who concluded to try it on her hair, little thinking at the time that it would restore the gray hair to its original color; but to her, as well as my surprise, after a few weeks' trial it has performed that wonderful effect by turning all the gray hair back to brown, at the same time beautifying and thickening the hair. I strongly recommend the above Restorative to all persons in want of such a change in their hair.
CHARLES CARDEW.

New York, July 25 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood: With confidence do I recommend your Hair Restorative, as being a most efficacious article I ever saw. Since using your Hair Restorative my hair and whiskers, which were almost white, have gradually grown dark; and I now feel confident that a few more applications will restore them to their natural color. It has also relieved me of all dandruff and unpleasant itching, so common among persons who perspire freely.
J. G. KILBY.

Prof. Wood—About two years ago my hair commenced falling off and turning gray; I was fast becoming bald, and had tried many Remedies to no effect. I commenced using your Restorative in January last. A few applications fastened my hair firmly. It began to fill up, grew out and turned back to the former color, black. At this time it is fully restored to its original color, health and appearance, and I cheerfully recommend its use to all.
J. D. HOES.

Chicago, Ill., May 1, 1857.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of 3 sizes, viz: large, medium and small; the small holds ½ a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least 20 per cent more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent more in proportion, and retails for $3.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the office of the Secretary of State, in Madison, up to the twenty third day of September next, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, for doing for the State of Wisconsin, at the seat of government, all Printing and binding of every kind and description, for which the State may be liable to pay, contemplated in chapter 114 of the General Laws of 1858, entitled "An Act relating to Printing, approved May 17th, 1858." Such printing to be provided for in one contract, to continue for two or four years from the first day of January next, as the Board of Commissioners may direct at any time before such contract is entered into, and to be divided into three classes, as follows:

1st. To comprise all printing incident to the business of the two Houses of the Legislature while in session.

2d. To comprise the Journals and documents of the two Houses, and all general and local laws passed by the Legislature.

3d. The printing of the several State departments, including all blanks, blank books used in the several branches thereof of all kinds and descriptions whatsoever; to include such blanks as have heretofore been lithographed or engraved, used in the several departments.

No bid will be considered unless accompanied by a guarantee of twenty thousand dollars that the bidder if successful, will execute to the State a bond as contemplated in said act. Specifications as to what shall constitute a printing bid, will be subject to examination at the office of the Secretary of State on and after the 23d day of August. Such specifications together with the proposal of the successful bidder to be attached to and form a portion of the contract at the time of consummating the same.

A basis will be adopted by the Commissioners, to be in readiness at the hour of opening the bids, upon which basis each of the bids will be computed, but said basis will form no part of the contract, and will in no manner be binding upon the State as to the quantity of the work required.

Bidders are required to furnish specimens of each class of all classes of work bid for. Such specimens as are deposited by the successful bidder shall be kept by the Secretary of State, as a standard criterion for all work provided for in such contract, and shall be the guide for auditing all accounts under the same. Should any work prove inferior to such specimens, in the opinion of the Secretary of State, or other officer duly authorized to canvass the same, such work will be refused.

The successful bidder will be required to execute under the terms of his contract, all printing and binding for the State, which the present contractor is not bound to execute, or which he claims not to be under the provisions of his contract from the expiration of such contract to the first day of January next.

The contract may be annulled for unreasonable delay in doing the work, or for doing it in an inferior or improper manner. The contract for such printing to be made and executed under and subject to the provisions of chapter 114 of the general laws of 1858, above referred to, to the details of which, as well as to the specifications and requirements as to bids, above referred to, the attention of bidders is particularly called.

Proposals must be sealed and marked on the outside "Proposals for Printing," and be sent through the post office, directed to the Secretary of State, Madison, Wis.
